SPIRITO ALCHEMICO

HISTORY

Spirito Alchemico is a line of sea water-based liqueurs, inspired by the novels of the renowned American writer Francis Marion Crawford. At the end of the 1800s, Crawford resided in the Tower of San Nicola Arcella in Calabria, where he wrote his most important novels. Today, that tower by the sea, washed by the same waters that crash against the rocks and are present in all our blends, bears the name of the famous writer. The marine water enriches each of our products, giving them a unique flavor that celebrates the synergy between tradition and innovation.

TERRITORIALITY

Our roots lie deep in the heart of Calabria, a region renowned for its biodiversity and breathtaking landscapes. Our liqueurs capture the essence of this land through the use of local citrus fruits and medicinal herbs, enriched by the innovative integration of sea water. Every sip is a sensory journey that celebrates the harmony between tradition and innovation, bringing to light the authentic and vibrant flavors of a land rich in history and culture.

SEA WATER

ENHANCING EVERY FLAVOR

Sea water represents the distinctive element that elevates our liqueurs to a higher level, adding a unique signature to each product. Carefully collected, it undergoes an advanced purification process, ensuring food safety while preserving its precious mineral properties.

The natural sapidity of sea water acts as a flavor enhancer, highlighting the aromatic notes of the ingredients used. This delicate salinity balances and harmonizes the flavors, resulting in a unique sensory experience that echoes the freshness of ocean waves and the character of the land.

SUSTAINABILITY

The use of sea water is not only a matter of taste but also a commitment to sustainability. It represents an innovative approach to production that reduces the use of terrestrial resources, responsibly valuing a natural element.
